In case you're interested: I posted an example of backpropagation for convolution here:

cross-entropy.net seems unreachable from my Azure VM this morning... it just sits at connecting:

Connecting to www.cross-entropy.net107.180.57.14:443..

same for http (port 80)

It doesn't seem to be a general internet connectivity thing. I was able to wget google https from the VM for example. I haven't seen this issue before, at least from my VM.

I was able to do the get via my local PC's browser and cut-n-paste to file on VM, but thought I would mention it.

For what it's worth: I can access it now.

Consider trying "wget --timeout=2 UrlGoesHere".
